Alpha Solway, Annan.

International Fire & Rescue Association was established in 2002 and is Scotland's largest international fire service charity (Charity Number 033401) and was set up to assist fire and emergency services worldwide.

IFRA charity helps firefighters and emergency services in countries affected by war, civil unrest and those unable to provide a fire service of their own by providing vehicles, equipment, advice and training where identified, this ranges from basic firefighting, breathing apparatus, hazmats, rope rescue, water rescue and road traffic collision training.

To date IFRA have already exported over 90 appliances/vehicles, 50 containers full of equipment and provided instruction on 59 missions to 19 countries worldwide spanning 4 continents to assist and ensure safe and efficient operation of the equipment and appliances that they receive.

As a small charity we have to work extremely hard to provide this service, unlike larger charities who receive funds from various sources, but as you can see we perform a valuable and difficult job to aid these countries and are extremely grateful to Sherree Gracie from Alpha Solway for her assistance in donating a selection of their protective products.

The products will be dispatched to countries, identified by ourselves, to help communities be a safer place to live in, which we at home take for granted.

Once again, may I say thank you for your kind donation which is much appreciated and I am sure your products will assist the safety of people who are less fortunate than us.
